The image contains three traffic scenarios, each with a central intersection and four surrounding approaches. Each approach has a white box for the answer. The scenarios are as follows:

- Scenario 1 (Top): A green car approaches from the left. A yellow car approaches from the top. A red car approaches from the right. A cyclist approaches from the bottom. The intersection has a yield sign on the left approach, a yield sign on the top approach, a yield sign on the right approach, and a yield sign on the bottom approach.
- Scenario 2 (Middle): A yellow car approaches from the top. A cyclist approaches from the right. A cyclist approaches from the bottom. A yellow car approaches from the left. The intersection has a yield sign on the top approach, a yield sign on the right approach, a yield sign on the bottom approach, and a yield sign on the left approach.
